MARINER

Beside the blue waters of Lake Erie, our school stands.

Day and night the waves roll ceaselessly against the shore, and each new morning the tide rushes in.

Waves of enthusiasm and spirit are reflected in those who share in a combined effort to reach a common goal.

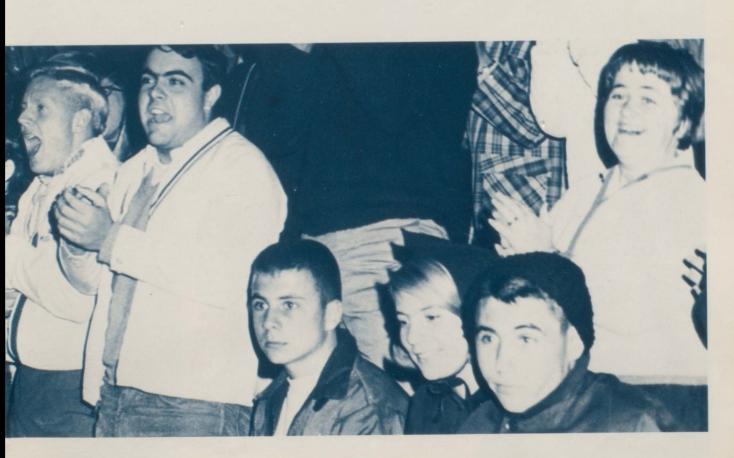

The final realization of a job well done, whether it be a beautiful prom or a successful performance, results in waves of pleasure and enthusiasm.

Waves of understanding flow between students and teachers, developing a deeper appreciation of our world; for, as the tide goes out, so must we.

DEDICATION

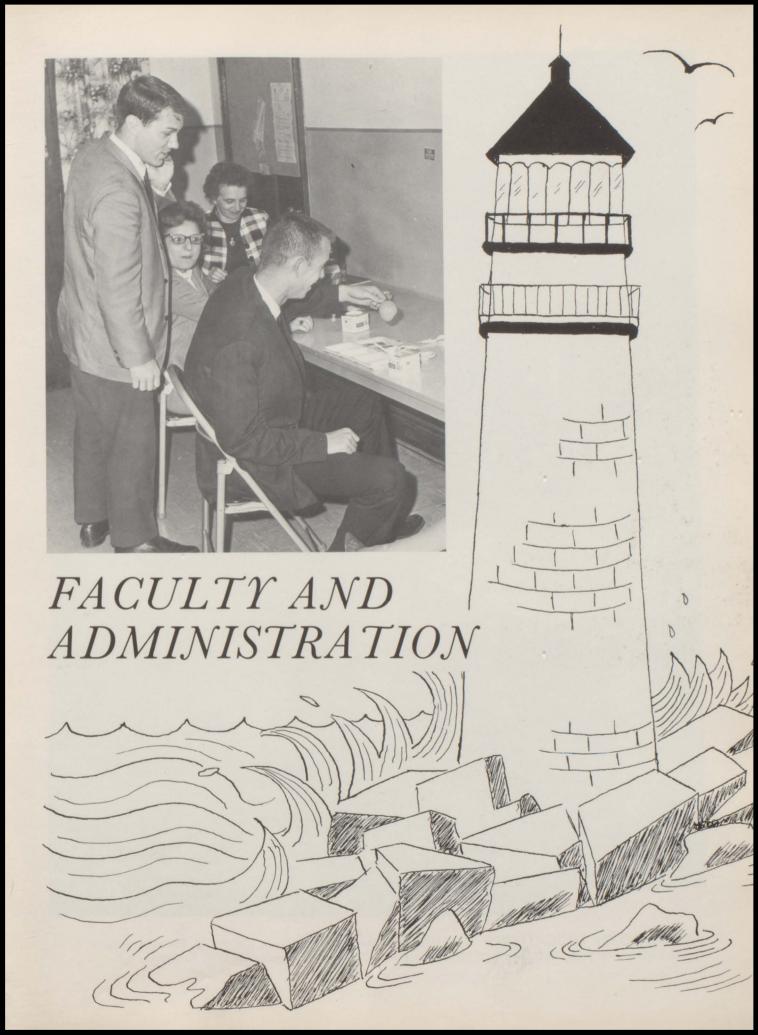

We, the Senior Class of 1967 of Harbor High School, dedicate our yearbook to Miss Betty Jean O'Dell.

Besides teaching Junior English, speech, drama and debate, Miss O'Dell still finds time to sponsor the Junior and Senior class plays and the annual Variety Show. Those who have known her will never forget her patience, understanding, and sense of humor which have contributed so much to the success of our class plays.

Therefore, we thank you, Miss O'Dell and salute you this year and in the future for your part in making our years at Harbor years to remember.

THE CLASS OF 1967

The Class of 1967 will be the last class to graduate from Harbor High that attended school here since the seventh grade. Although we weren't completely a part of the senior high activities, it was exciting just being around upperclassmen, and we gained early the experience of seeing what high school life was like.

In our freshman year we officially became part of high school life. As activities, our class held bake sales and sold toothbrushes and Mariner stickers. By the end of the year we were seasoned veterans, but we had no idea of the hard work that was in store for us.

Our sophomore year was one long scramble to earn money for our prom. We held the traditional sophomore bottle drive. For a month Fawcett Gym was a great "glass menagerie" of empty pop bottles, some of which broke the solitude of the lobby with an occasional crash. In the spring of the year we held our car wash. After hours of work in the hot sun, we finally polished our last car to a brilliant luster. We emerged grimy, but with a deep feeling of satisfaction.

The excitement mounted all through our junior year. The Prom Committee held regular meetings to make plans, while the rest of the class wondered what the theme would be. Finally came the day when we were assigned to our committees and began working. In the beginning, spirits ran high, but as the week wore on, and we worked harder each day to finish in time, we grew more serious. We transported mountains of rocks from the gulf. Each rock in its own small way adorned the stream and added to the rustic beauty of the waterfall. Trees and bushes sprang from the sawdust garden, while frail geishas peered from behind transparent lattice works. When it was finished at last, we could look at our completed effort, and the beauty of it made up for the aching muscles and backs -- a little, anyway.

At last came our senior year and the odd but exciting feeling that now we were at the top. We finally were those seniors who had seemed so far away from us in the seventh grade.

Our minds are filled with many memories:

Of the many fine teachers who have helped us on our way;

Of some of our classmates who were not allowed to graduate with us;

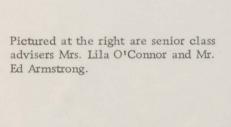

Of all the scrambling and tearing of hair that went on in the journalism room to get the yearbook out on time;

Of Miss Boyce's oft-repeated saying: "That's not my comma. That's your comma until you tell me WHY you put it there."

Of seniors walking around the halls muttering a strange list that sounded something like, "Knight, squire, yeoman, two nuns, three priests..." and so on endlessly.

We would also like to thank all the people connected with the school for putting up with us for six years. We know they have prepared the Class of 1967 to venture forth and make their own waves in the world.

IN MEMORIAM

We, the senior class of Harbor High School, will long remember our three classmates--Kathy Mackynen, Chicki Kuhn, and Larry Lindenmayer--although they have passed away.

We who knew these three will have many memories of them to cherish. Not only were they once a part of our lives, but in a sense they still are and always will be.

Classmates of Larry Lindenmayer present a memorial of books at the spring recognition.

Whenever we think of Kathy Mackynen, our thoughts are fresh and happy, for she herself was full or happiness. Kathy took an active part in many class activities and shared her enthusiasm and happy smile with all about her.

Chicki Kuhn inspires in us the thought of courage. Though she was absent from school much of the time because of her illness, she did all that she was able to do in order to be a real part of our class.

Larry Lindenmayer was a quiet boy who was best known only by his closest friends. Those who knew him well valued his friendship greatly. His devoted participation in football made him well known to the whole school.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Junior Class officers for 1966-67 are Cindy Nappi, secretary; Martha Shaul, vice president; Dave Cunningham, president; and Janice Bond, treasurer.

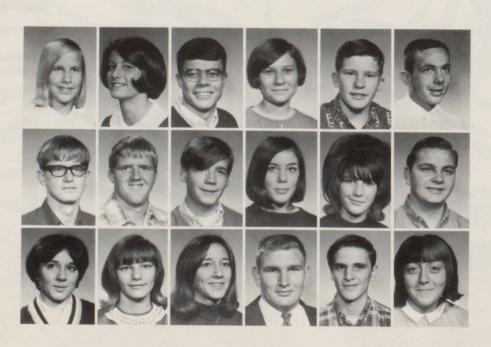

This year's Junior Class was headed by Dave Cunningham, president; Martha Shaul, vice president; Cindy Nappi, secretary; and Janice Bond, treasurer,

The prom committee, consisting of 25 students, worked hard and eagerly to create a successful Junior-Senior Prom.

The rest of the class showed their enthusiasm by selling mums, by the traditional sale of chocolate candy bars, and by presenting a well-received play, "Time Out for Ginger."

Their advisers were Mr. David O'Dell and Mrs. Karen Robinson.

PROM

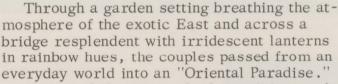

ORIENTAL PARADISE

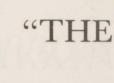

A year of planning and a long, tiring week of work changed the homely cocoon of our high school gym into a crepepaper world of dreams made real for one night. A huge buddha covered one wall and dominated both the garden path with its stream and pool, and the lighted silhouettes of Oriental geishas facing the garden on the opposite wall. Cool, tranquil tones of blue and green provided the background for the gay scene of couples enjoying to the fullest their one night in paradise.

Complementary to the magical night were our King and Queen, Dennis Jarvi and Paula Rennick, who danced to the music of the George Parrish Orchestra.

At midnight the pace changed as the couples were entertained by Tony and the Bandits until finally the morning sun heralded the coming of a new day and the close of our "Oriental Paradise."

GEORGE

Boston at the turn of the century set the stage for the Junior Class play, "The Late George Apley." Directed by Miss Betty Jean O'Dell, the play revolves around the inability of George Apley, portrayed by Chuck Ballo, to move out of the narrow world of custom and tradition in which he had been raised. Through the love affairs of his son and daughter, George Apley is forced to re-examine the world he lives in and the life he leads.

LATE

APLEY"

The members of his family point out the choice George must make between living his life the way his father and grandfather did as custom dictates, or living it in such a way as to make new customs. As the plot develops, his two children must make their choices too. His daughter breaks away completely to live her own life, but George and his son finally return to and become immersed in their world of unchallenged tradition.

A DREAMER'S HOLIDAY

On the gay wings of a butterfly, the 26th annual Variety Show took off for a trip on "A Dreamer's Holiday." Mary Jo McMillan, our Miss Varieties, welcomed us.

Various sights on our trip were a Russian midget, a German schoolroom, a Wild West saloon, and the mystic country of Camelot. We also caught a glimpse of Broadway in ''Mame'' and Shakespeare's England in the songs of the Madrigals.

Of course, no trip is perfect and our idyllic ''Dreamer's Holiday'' was interrupted temporarily by ''Cinderella,'' a nightmare presented by the National Thespians.

Connie Coutts as the Goddess of Liberty closed the show as the choir sang and our trip came to an end.

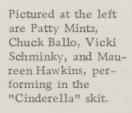

Miss Betty Jean O'Dell directed the show.

"UNCLE HARRY"

April brought to Harbor's stage the Senior Class play, "Uncle Harry," a drama by Thomas Job.

Doubling in the title role of Uncle Harry and of the governor were Ron Pearson and Thomas Waid. Harry's sister Lettie (Mary McMillan, Barbara Goldstein) is framed in the poisoning of their overbearing sister Hester (Julene Sippola, Sharon Swanson) so that he may marry Lucy (Maureen Hawkins, Ruth Adams).

The Blue Belle Tavern is the scene as Ben, the druggist (Chuck Ballo), Albert (Bob Beckman), and Miss Phipps, the barmaid (Vicki Schminky, Patty Mintz), learn of Lettie's conviction from tavern owner Blake (John Seferian).

The drama reaches soaring heights in the last scene when Uncle Harry confesses, only to find no one will believe him. As Lettie awaits her execution, Uncle Harry resolves to convince people of his deed.

Others in the cast were Jill Huggins, Vicki Marlin, Carol Sanfield, Kathy Sheppard, Chuck Swedenborg, Jim Lahnanen, Dale Fitzgerald, David Narducci, Paul Brais, and Dennis Jokilehto.

One of our larger service clubs, the Red Cross consists of representatives elected from each homeroom.

Each year a drive is held to collect money for their projects. This year the club sent boxes to American soldiers in Viet Nam.

NEWSPAPER STAFF

The 1966-67 Mariner, under the supervision of Miss Mary Boyce, worked on many small papers for staff members as preparation for the printing of the first big issue.

Staff members Cathy Andersen and Marcy Barrell also regularly contributed a school column to the Star-Beacon.

The Mariner staff also joined in various activities including adopting a Christmas family with the yearbook staff and sponsoring the annual Variety Show.

Editor's Message

Your '67 Mariner is the product of incalculable hours of work, fun, frustration, joy, and satisfaction. Without the invaluable help of many people this yearbook would not have been possible.

We would like first to thank Miss Mary Boyce, who served as friend, adviser, and often coworker.

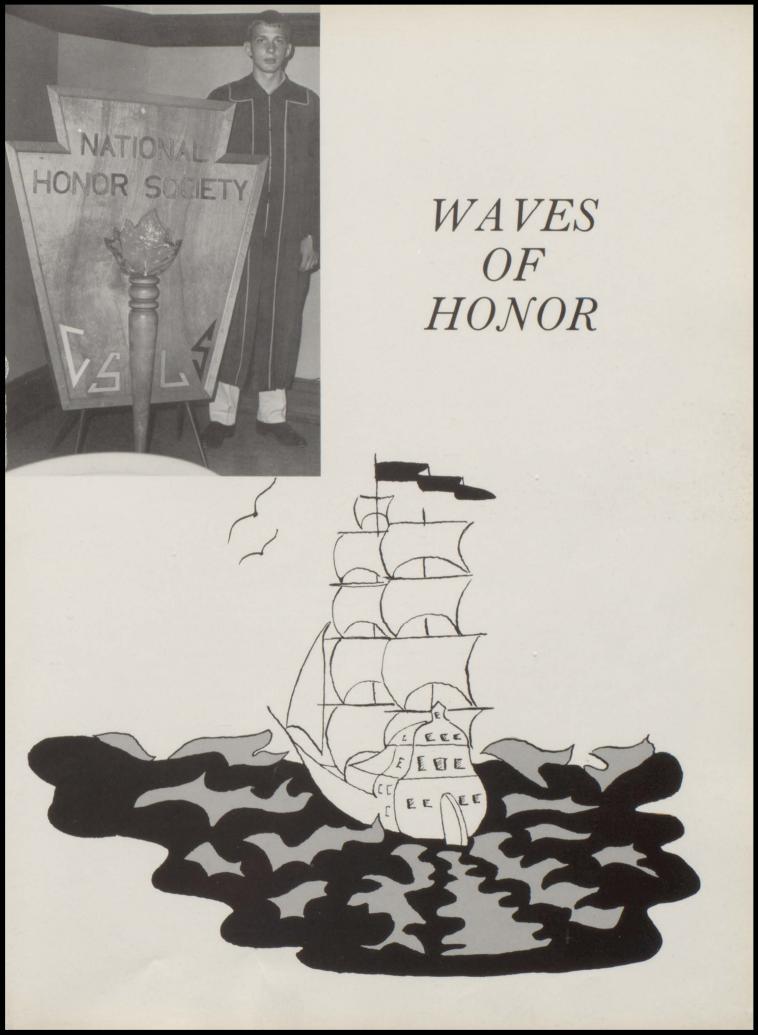

Out thanks also go to our committees and their chairmen; Mr. Pete Prentner, publisher's representative; and Mr. Art Taylor and Mr. Bill Friedel, our photographers.

Our deepest appreciation is extended to our patrons and advertisers and also to the faculty and administration who went out of their way willingly to help us at great sacrifice of time and effort.

Last of all, we would like to thank you, the class of '67, for you are the '67 Mariner, and without you there would be no story to tell.

OUR

Regine Drasdo from Büdelsdorf, West Germany, was Harbor's exchange student during the 1966-67 school year. She lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Armin Drasdo, her 14-year-old brother, Helmut, and her 21-year-old sister, Birgit.

During her stay in Ashtabula, her American parents were Mr. and Mrs. John D. Huggins. Jill and Judy, who attend Harbor High School, and Peggy, who is ten years old, were her three American sisters. With her brother Peter away at college, Jill jokingly remarked, "Having Reg in our family adds to my father's harem."

When asked her opinion of American food, all Reg could say was, "I like it." She said American food is sweeter and ice cream is not eaten as much in Germany. One of the biggest differences in eating habits is that Germans drink beer with their meals.

Reg has a wide variety of interests including sports, music, reading, dancing, and acting. Her favorite hobby is sports, especially basketball and swimming. She has become a member of the Y.W.C.A. swim team.

With her warm smile and cheerful, out-going personality, she has shown that aside from customs, teenagers the world over are basically the same.

The H.H.S. chapter of the American Field Service made Regine's stay in America possible. The adviser is Mr. Lowell Lamb, and the student representatives are Grace Johnson, senior, and David Flower, junior.

HONOR SOCIETIES

The National Honor Society emphasizes the qualities of scholarship, leadership, character, and service in students. To be inducted into the society, a student must possess all these traits in an outstanding degree.

This year the Honor Society changed tradition by holding only one induction in February. The pins given to the new members were paid for primarily by the sponsoring of Bermuda Day in the spring.

International Conorary Society for High School Yournalists

The Quill and Scroll, an international journalistic society chartered in 1936, is the honorary school literary club.

To obtain membership, a student must be of junior or senior standing, rank in the upper third of the class, and must be recommended for superior work in school journalism.

Since the organization is honorary, there are no officers or regular meetings. A banquet in the spring and a candlelight ceremony mark the formal initiation.

Miss Mary Boyce is adviser.

After the senior class selected a Homecoming court of five girls, hectic campaigning began. The highlight of the campaigning was the presentation of the candidates to the student body in a special assembly.

On Friday morning the ballots were cast, creating excitement for both the voters and candidates.

During the day the skies were threatening, but the night of the game was perfect. The first event of the evening was a parade of the candidates in their convertibles led by the band from Harbor to Wenner Field. At half time, as the band played "Climb Every Mountain," and "Give My Regards to Broadway," the candidates were driven around the field to the home stands, where they were escorted from their cars by their fathers. Cheers rose from the crowd as Peggy Merritt was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1966.

The formal coronation took place the following night at the Homecoming Dance, traditionally sponsored by the Senior Girls' Club.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, functioning as the main body of student government at Harbor, consists of elected officers, class officers, and elected homeroom representatives.

This year's activities included sponsoring a student welcoming dance and a twirp dance, adopting families for Thanksgiving and Christmas, decorating a Christmas tree, and holding a spring clean-up.

Each month the Council sponsored an assembly, one of which included the visit of Representative J. William Stanton. Choosing students of the month and sponsoring "Mystery Basketball Player of the Week" were other duties.

VARSITY

Although the final season record produced 2 wins, 5 losses, and 2 ties, if an award for overall spirit, drive, and pride was given, the Harbor Mariners would surely have won it. Much of this enthusiasm can be attributed to Harbor's new coach, Mr. James Orr, who was able to "fire up" the team and student body before every game.

FOOTBALL

A new award, the Player of the Week, was initiated by Coach Orr. With this honor the week's most outstanding player got the privilege of wearing a special red jersey. Seniors Gary Burns and Larry Stebbins shared the honor of being named Player of the Year.

TENNIS 1966

With an over-all record of 7-4 and a league record of 7-2, the Mariners finished second in the Ashtabula County Tennis League, topped only by Grand Valley.

The only team to defeat Harbor were Grand River and Geneva. The team was coached by Robert Huff.

VARSITY

The Mariner Varsity squad finished a disappointing season with a record of 6 wins and 11 losses. This year's starting team, comprised of four seniors and one junior, fought valiantly, never giving the crowds a dull moment. Teamwork was the key word for the squad, and this all-out effort was witnessed in some great games: a 69 to 47 win over St. John and a 41 to 40 loss to Conneaut, the strongest team in the area.

The spirit and drive of the Harbor basketball squad was a true example of Harbor school spirit and pride.

Junior Varsity

Coach David O'Dell's Junior Varsity featured a flock of sharpshooters, but exported a fair record of 8 wins and 9 losses. Ken Bires, Jeff Hummer, and Ed Haight were the leading scorers.

Coach O'Dell said the Conneaut game was the best team game and the turning point of the season. The squad also played two outstanding games with Geneva and St. John.

Freshman Basketball

This year the freshman basketball squad tallied a 10-6 record going into the tournaments. Led by the high scoring of Bob Millberg and Tim Kalil and the rebounding of Larry Hummer and Larry Trotter, the team won many tough games. Their best effort, according to Coach Wilbert Willey, was a double overtime victory over Ashtabula.

WRESTLING

This year marks the first time Harbor has had a wrestling team. Under the direction of Coach John Abel, Harbor has developed a fine first year squad. Although the team has not won many contests, the boys have gained valuable experience which should be of great help in future years.

For the season they purchased an $1800 mat and new uniforms. We know this team will be a boon to this school for many years to come.
